

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

1928

WREXHAM STRAIN
DELPHINIUMS

COLEMAN GARDENS

Box 24 Multnomah, Oregon

150 DAYS FROM SEED

We are offering, this year, seeds of the famous WREXHAM strain of delphiniums. Our own success with these wonderful monarchs of the garden makes us believe that our flower loving friends will be desirous of sharing with us this new and marvelous Hollyhock variety. No garden is complete without them.

Every garden lover who does not own some of these plants is missing a rare treat. Think of the delight in watching these plants grow to heights of seven and eight feet, with three to four feet of tapering blooming masses of individual flowers measuring three inches in diameter.

What gorgeous colors greet us each day as we inspect these towering spires,---light blues and mauves, darker blues and lavers on thru to the dark purples and rich deep blues,---some with light centers, some with dark centers, single, semi-double and double, a never ending variety.

Why miss such pleasure when it may be obtained so easily, for delphiniums are not difficult to raise. Sow seeds during February in flats; transplant to open ground after danger of frost, and with ordinary care you will be more than amply repaid for your labor.

---

SEEDS

$1.00 per package---Postpaid